Americanism

By LEONARD WOOD

No gilded dome swells from the lowly roof to catch the morning or evening beam; but the love and gratitude of united America settle upon it in one eternal sunshine. From beneath that humble roof went forth the intrepid and unselfish warrior, the magistrate who knew no glory but his country's good; to that he returned, happiest when his work was done. There he lived in noble simplicity, there he died in glory and peace. While it stands the latest generations of the grateful people of America will make this pilgrimage today as to a shrine; and when it shall fall, if fall it must, the memory and the name of Washington will shed an eternal glory on the spot—Edward Everett's Oration on the Character of Washington.

THIS address stands out as one of the finest portrayals of the grand yet simple character of George Washington, First of His Country.

Everett calls Washington intrepid. So he was. He calls him unselfish. So he was. Patriotism always is unselfish. When thought of self advancement at the expense of one's country enters into a man's breast he is no longer a patriot. Washington subordinated everything pertaining to himself to his country's good. He gave a lesson to posterity that well might be the better learned by some of us today.

The first president has been exalted by Americans but he never exalted himself. His Americanism was that of devotion to country and a willingness to carry his devotion to the end of death if death should come.

The story of Washington should be one of the first lessons in the book of Americanization. It is an appealing story and one to be understood by even the mind of a child. The memory of Washington, men have said, has acted as an anchor to the ship of state in times of storm. It was not so much Washington's deeds as a warrior which brought to him the admiration and affection of the American people, as it was the noble simplicity of his character which was shown not only in his deeds but in his actual manner of life.

Aliens who come to our shores for the purpose of becoming American citizens almost invariably know something of George Washington. It may be that he is only a name to them, but almost always it has been found that in the minds of the incoming immigrants the name is associated with all that they have thought of as best in the land which promises them the liberty for which they seek.

He was a man "who knew no glory out his country's good." In these few quoted words can be found the whole story of a life of devotion to an ideal. No patriot could wish for a better epitaph than this.

Stars in a Dream.

To dream of stars is said to be the following meaning: If the stars were clear, Dame Fortune is smiling upon you, but if they were obscured and dusky, then the stars may be the case.

DIFFERENT KINDS OF COUGHS

Bad colds lead to different kinds of coughs. There is a "dry cough," a "winter cough," a gripple cough, gripple cough, bronchial cough, asthmatic cough, and of course, the racking, painful cough to raise choking phlegm. Foley's Honey and Tar gives quick relief in all cases. T. J. McCall, Athens, O., writes: "We used Foley's Honey and Tar in our home for several years and find it almost invaluable for the cure of coughs and colds, and especially for croup with our children."

A PHYSICIAN SAYS

That San Yak is the Most Efficient—Does Not Wear Out in Treating the Kidneys, Poor Blood, Rheumatism and Renewing the Body.

McBrides, Mich., July 7, 1919. Burnham Medical Co.

Gentlemen: San Yak will do all you claim—it is a fine medicine for anemia of the blood and has cured cases of rheumatism of long standing. When one doctors the kidneys he is renewing the whole body. One can always depend on San Yak.

Yours respectfully, (Signed) L. P. Bailey, M. D.

J. P. White, ex-chief of police of Marion, Ind., and recently proprietor of the Hotel DeSoto, states as follows:

"San-Yak, yes, I know that medicine. I used four bottles while I was in Benton Harbor, Mich. I was subject to short breath, heart, kidney, bladder and liver troubles; had blood. I am pleased to have an opportunity to recommend San-Yak to my friends. It is a wonderful medicine and its claims are true. Yours with pleasure. "J. B. White."

A dollar laid out to aid health is not an expenditure but a loan, which will be returned a hundred fold.

Mrs. F. E. Hildebrand, 889 Cot-Ave., Wabash, Ind.:

"The doctors said I had Bright's disease, and high blood pressure of 186. I was sick and dizzy, stiff and clumsy in my muscles. I was so weak I could scarcely walk. My daughter heard of San-Yak and sent me a bottle five years ago, and before the first bottle was gone I was feeling fine. San-Yak has cured me, and for the benefit of others you are welcome to the use of this letter."

With some paints the dirt seems to wash into the surface instead of off the surface, and it's mighty hard work to get the finish really clean. U. S. N. Deck Paint is not only washable, but easily washable. There's a big difference. Easy to apply, durable, artistic colors. An ideal finish for general use around the home.

—appearances must be considered seriously

THERE are so many examples that emphasize the importance of good dress in the activities of the energetic American.

Visualize the man in the picture—for example. His is a social mission. The impression he makes among his friends, in business or society, is measured in part by his clothes, and when he makes a friendly call in the evening he knows his clothes count for something. He finds satisfaction in knowing that his clothes are right; his top-coat reflects quality and good taste as much as his suit; every item of his apparel must count.

Kuppenheimer good Clothes are the product of makers who understand the high importance of appearances. They are quality clothes in every particular—the kind of quality that is not short-lived, because Kuppenheimer clothes are sensible in their American style and enduring service. We have them for you because we believe they are worthy—because they give you satisfaction and a full return for your money.

NOTE: See our window display of Kuppenheimer good clothes. They reflect examples of good style and appearance for this Spring and Summer.

Lily White

"The Flour the Best Cooks Use."

is made to "make good" and it does.

Only the very choicest varieties of wheat are used in its manufacture, and the wheat is cleaned four times, scoured three times and actually washed once before going onto the rolls for the first break.

This eliminates every particle of dirt from the grain, making it impossible to preserve the natural flavor of the wheat.

The result of careful, sanitary milling is immediately apparent in LILY WHITE FLOUR, which bakes the most delicious bread and pastries you have ever eaten.

Your dealer will refund you the purchase price if you do not like LILY WHITE FLOUR better.
